

Product Data Sheet

Description

Tasco, the Superfood of the Sea, is derived from a species of brown kelp that has adapted and thrives in one of the harshest environments on earth. Tasco is harvested and solar dried to ensure the protective molecules are not damaged. These protective molecules are then passed onto the pet when fed. These nutrients give Tasco its superfood quality by helping promote proper digestive and immune health, acting as an antioxidant and promoting stress reduction. Ultimately, Tasco is a cost effective way to improve any companion animal diet across all life stages.

Features and benefits

Features	Benefits
Contains 100% Ascophyllum nodosum, the most researched specialty marine plant on the market	GI support - unique dietary fiber profile acts as prebiotic supporting normal digestive function
Manually harvested to guarantee the sustainability of this valuable resource and protection of its ecosystem	Immunity defense - dietary fiber and polyphenolic compounds support the immune system
Solar dried to maintain the natural compounds that give Tasco its unique properties	ROS protection - polyphenolics, flavonoids and fucoxanthin act as antioxidants within the GI tract
Low inclusion rates that are proven effective in in vivo trials	Stress reduction - bioactive molecules support the animal's natural ability to resist stress

What Sets Tasco Apart?

- Commodity kelp meal can be a blend of green, brown or red algae from across the globe.
- Tasco is one source of kelp from one location with a strict harvesting and manufacturing SOP; this ensures you have a consistent and safe product with each and every lot
- Tasco harvest is also monitored closely by the manufacturer and the Canadian government to ensure a sustainable supply for years to come
- Each lot comes with a Certificate of Analysis to further ensure product quality

Inclusion Rate

- Included in diets at 0.25%
- Tasco can easily be used in existing pet food formulas as a substitute for other functional fibers or carbohydrates

Contact

Trouw Nutrition
115 Executive Drive, Highland, IL 62249
800.365.1357
tnusamarketing@trouwnutrition.com
www.trouwnutritionusa.com

Tasco® is exclusively manufactured by Acadian® Seaplants Limited